

Water Conservation

during drought in SC

Drought happens, sometimes making water resources scarce. But, by following these simple tips we can all help to reduce water use and conserve our valuable water supplies in South Carolina.

This will not only save us money and worry, it will also improve the ecology of the environment we all live in and enjoy.

During drought, always follow instructions from your local water utility and community leaders.

Run dishwasher only when fully loaded

Turn off faucet when shaving, brushing teeth, and washing

Take shorter showers

Install water saving devices on faucets

Flush toilets less often

Check regularly for leaks

Plant native species and use mulch in landscaping

Water lawn rarely and in the early morning

Use a broom to clean driveway

Use a car wash that recycles water

Spread the word! Tell friends and family
